MILLION DOLLAR DAILY THIRST.

New York spends $1,000,000 a day for drink, according to the Rev. Madison C. Peters, of Epiphany Baptist church. He gave his congregation some figures on the subject recently.

New York's annual liquor bill was $365,000,000.

This is:

More than the income from the tariff.

Four times the annual gold output.

Six times the yearly silver product.

One-third the value of the coal mined in a year.

In some sections of New York there is one saloon to ever thirty families.

The money spent here in ten years would buy every working-man a home in the suburbs.

New York's annual drink bill would buy:

73,000,000 barrels of flour.

730,000 wagon loads of wheat.

It would take fifty persons a year to count the money in $1 notes.

The money would cover 10,000 acres of ground.—New York World.

This gospel of happiness is one which every one should lay to heart. Set out with the invincible determination that you will bear burdens and not impose them. Whether the sun shines or the rain falls, show a glad face to your neighbor. If you must fall in life's battle, you can at least fall with a smile on your face.—Wellspring

THE PLEDGE AND STRAWBERRIES.

A striking temperance lecture fell from the lips of a little child in Covington Ky., the child of a reformed man. "Father," said she, "are you always going to wear the blue ribbon?"

"I hope so, my dear," was the reply.

"So do I," said the little one.

"Why do you hope so?" asked her father.

"Because I've never had so many strawberries in my life as I've had since you signed the pledge and put on that blue ribbon."

A Modern Miracle.

"Truly miraculous seemed the recovery of Mrs. Mollie Holt of this place," writes J. O. Hooper, Woodford, Tenn., "she was so wasted by coughing up puss from her lungs. Doctors declared her end so near that her family had watched by her bed-side forty-eight hours; when, at my urgent request Dr. King's New Discovery was given her, with the astonishing result that improvement began, and continued until she finally completely recovered, and is a healthy woman to day." Guaranteed cure for cough and colds, 50c and $1.00 at all druggists. Trial bottle free.

Ohio has the best law against gambling we have ever heard of.

The statute provides that any one having lost money gambling may bring suit and recover same, and the United States Supreme Court has given a decision which upholds the constitutionality of the law in a case wherein a wife sues to recover money gambled off by her husband. Under such circumstances it is hardly probable that gambling will flourish in the commonwealth of Ohio. The winner of the game will have no title to the money even after he has won it.—Leonard Graphic.

She Wouldn't Take Any Part.

The voters in one of the districts of a mountain county of Kentucky decided they would send Jabe Johnson to the Legislature. He could read rather well, owned twenty acres of ground, three horses and two cows. Therefore, being the big man of his district, it was fitting that the honor should be done him.

When he and his wife were getting ready to go to Frankfort many admiring friends came in to say good-bye.

"Miranda," said one of Mrs. Johnson's aunts, "I reckon you'll be gwine th theayters and all 'em high falutin' things."

"Yes," responded Mrs. Johnson, as she placidly tied her sunbonnet. "I'm gwine, but I'm not gwine to take enny part."—Holland's Magazine for February.

Fell From Balloon.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 20.—Lindsley Cooper, a young man traveling with the Clark and Stoneberger carnival, fell from a balloon at Wolfe City this afternoon and died instantly. It was his first ascent as an aeronaut and when between 1,500 and 2,500 feet in the air he lost his hold on the trapeze and fell with frightful velocity, striking some telegraph wires that only slightly checked his fall. The horror was witnessed by three or four hundred people and occurred just before 6 o'clock. Cooper was dead when the crowd reached the point where he fell and blood was gushing from mouth, nose and ears. With the exception of a broken wrist no bone were broken. The home of the young man is Clarinda, Ia.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effectual medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by all druggists.

People should patronize those merchants who advertise, since they are the most enterprising and wide awake, and buy their goods right, and hence can sell them at a lower price than others. Advertisers also buy and sell goods in larger quantities, and so again have the advantage in prices and can sell cheaper. It therefore pays to patronize those who advertise.

Burial in Mid-Air.

St. Louis, Jan. 20.—In obedience to stipulations in the will of William Burnside, an octogenarian who died recently, his ashes today were cast to the bosom of the Mississippi river from the Eads bridge. The mid-air interment was performed by Attorney J. N. Allen, executor of the will, who recited a few lines of original poetry as he poured the ashes from a jar. William Burnside was once worth a quarter of a million dollars, but died in comparative poverty.
